

2027 Licensed Training Partner Program and Renewal Guide

Overview

As we look ahead to 2027, thank you for the expertise and dedication you bring to the Scrum Alliance community. Your work helps learners build confidence and put new skills into practice, and we look forward to continuing that work together.

The Licensed Training Partner (LTP) program connects your expertise with Scrum Alliance certifications, microcredentials, and partner resources. Professional, Business, and Enterprise provide options based on how you teach and run your business.

For 2027, annual fees are lower across all three tiers.

For active CSTs and CSATs, your applicable LTP fee includes your trainer renewal, with no separate trainer renewal charge.

Choose the tier that fits your work

Professional

$1,000 per year | Individual trainer

Offer private courses through your own Professional LTP, or teach courses offered through another eligible LTP. Your Professional renewal includes renewal of your CST/CSAT and all other Scrum Alliance certifications you hold. To offer public courses through your own organization, choose Business or Enterprise.

Business

$3,000 per year | Organization with one trainer

Offer public and private courses through your organization, with public course listings, a training partner directory listing, and additional partner benefits. Your Business renewal supports one designated trainer and includes your CST/CSAT and all other Scrum Alliance Certifications.

Enterprise

$5,000 per year | Organization with multiple trainers

Required for organizations with two or more designated trainers, whether delivery is public or private. Includes Business benefits plus quarterly business reviews and expanded marketing support. A one-trainer organization may also choose Enterprise.

Renewing with a team?

The Enterprise renewal fee includes one designated primary trainer's CST/CSAT and all other Scrum Alliance Certifications. Additional active CSTs/CSATs maintain their own LTPs at Professional or higher. See the worked examples on page 6.

* One primary trainer's renewal is included; additional active CSTs/CSATs renew separately at Professional or higher.

What public and private mean

A private course is arranged for a specific client or group and is not publicly promoted for general registration. A dated course promoted for public registration on your website or social media is a public course, even if it is not listed on Scrum Alliance Course Search.

Teaching through another LTP

A Professional LTP trainer may teach public courses offered through an eligible Business or Enterprise LTP. The offering organization must have the appropriate permissions and trainer association. Your Professional LTP does not let you offer public courses under your own LTP.

On-demand courses and additional opportunities

Business and Enterprise can resell or host eligible on-demand courses under the applicable licensing arrangements. Professional LTPs can participate through the affiliate program.

Understand your annual renewal fees

Each active CST or CSAT maintains an LTP at Professional or higher. A Professional renewal includes that trainer's CST/CSAT and all other Scrum Alliance certifications; there is no separate trainer certification renewal charge.

Examples for common situations

Your situation	Required renewal in this example	Annual total
You offer only private courses as an individual trainer.	Professional	$1,000
You teach through another eligible LTP and do not offer your own public courses.	Professional	$1,000*
Your one-trainer organization offers its own public courses.	Business	$3,000
Your organization has two trainers, delivering public or private courses.	Enterprise + one Professional	$6,000
Your organization has three trainers, delivering public or private courses.	Enterprise + two Professional	$7,000

*This is the individual trainer's renewal fee. The organization offering the courses maintains its own LTP separately. Team totals assume one designated primary trainer is included in Enterprise and each additional trainer renews at Professional.

A three-trainer Enterprise example

Matt, Beth, and Chris teach through the same Enterprise LTP. Matt is the designated primary trainer, so his trainer renewal is included in the organization's $5,000 Enterprise fee. Beth and Chris each renew their own Professional LTP for $1,000.

Total annual renewal fees: $5,000 + $1,000 + $1,000 = $7,000.

Each $1,000 renewal covers that trainer's own Professional LTP license, including renewal of their CST/CSAT and all other Scrum Alliance certifications.

How you share the costs is up to you

Your organization may cover the full cost, or you and your fellow trainers may agree to share it. For example, the organization can reimburse trainers for their individual Professional LTP fees, or trainers can contribute toward the organization's Business or Enterprise fee.

Each required renewal must still be completed and paid through the appropriate Scrum Alliance account. You arrange any cost sharing or reimbursements directly with one another; Scrum Alliance does not split or redistribute renewal payments.

All prices are in USD and represent annual renewal fees. Student activation fees and any applicable additional course or licensing charges remain separate.

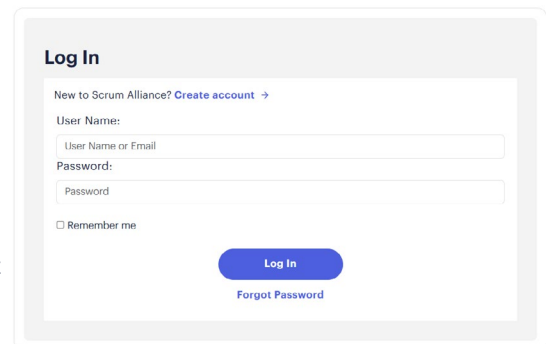

Renew for 2027

Renewals open October 15, 2026. Complete your renewal by December 31, 2026, to avoid interruption to your current permissions.

Four steps to complete your renewal

1. Sign in to your Scrum Alliance dashboard.
2. Select the LTP tier that matches how you operate.
3. Accept the LTP and trainer agreements shown in your account.
4. Complete checkout by December 31, 2026, choosing either payment in full or a payment plan through Klarna.

A screenshot of the Scrum Alliance login interface. At the top, it says "Log In". Below that, there's a link "New to Scrum Alliance? Create account ->". The form has two input fields: "User Name:" with a sub-label "User Name or Email" and "Password:" with a sub-label "Password". There's a checkbox labeled "Remember me". A blue "Log In" button is at the bottom right, and a link "Forgot Password" is below it.

Signing the agreements is only part of renewal. Your renewal is not finalized until you complete checkout and make your payment (or set up your Klarna installment plan). Your renewal goes into effect as soon as your payment or payment plan is successfully processed. If you've completed both steps but your account does not reflect your renewed status, please contact our Partner & Customer Success team for assistance.

Keep your teaching permissions current

Your LTP tier determines how you can offer courses. You and your instructors must also hold the required credentials and approvals for each course, use approved or licensed materials, and remain in good standing. Existing trainer professional-development requirements continue to apply.

Business and Enterprise partners must also meet the applicable organizational requirements. Your annual renewal does not automatically authorize you to teach new courses or remove course-specific requirements.

When your business changes

You can upgrade your LTP during your current contract term. Contact Partner & Customer Success to confirm the fee and effective date before changing how you offer courses or adding a trainer. Downgrades take effect at renewal.

Stay involved throughout the year

Your partnership also connects you with the Scrum Alliance trainer and partner community. Look for partner briefings, professional-development opportunities, and invitations to contribute your expertise to new learning initiatives. Availability and eligibility vary by activity and partnership level.

Get help with your renewal

If your primary contact is not a trainer, you already hold another LTP, or your setup differs from the examples, our team can help you confirm the right accounts and renewal steps before you pay.
